EXAMINE

- Up to now the author has been showing Jesus Christ’s superiority over angels who were the mediators of the old covenant. Over what areas is Jesus shown to be superior in this text?
- Moses was a most-revered prophet of old. For background, read Numbers 12:1-16, particularly noting how God regards Moses in verses 7-8.

APPLY

- Most of us in the church won’t be tempted to think of Moses as great than Jesus! But most of us in the church will be tempted to think less of Jesus than we do of other things. The author’s solution is to “Consider Jesus.” What does that mean? How should you go about that?
- “House” in this text refers to people, not a building. The implication is that we corporately belong to Jesus: we’re in this life with Christ together! How does that encourage and challenge you?

PRAY

Holy Father, our hope is in you and your Son. Thank you for sending Jesus into this world. He reveals you to us, He leads us to you, and His work on our behalf is superior to you than even the beauty of the Old Covenant you gave. Jesus, thank you for holding us. We are your house, and we are holding fast to your promise that you have never lost any of your people. Amen!
